Dear Sirs,

Delivery delay for your purchase orders

This letter is to inform you that we have suffered severe delays due to multiple material shortages both from European suppliers and from other overseas suppliers. As you may be aware, China is experiencing challenges on border movements and severe constraints on export containers that have directly limited our ability to ship components out of there affecting multiple orders including yours. Also, our main European suppliers are suffering from the same issues for raw materials they source from overseas. This situation has forced us to postpone the manufacturing of several units.

I sincerely apologise for any issues these delays may have caused, but please be also aware that it is due to reasons beyond our control, which to our best understanding is also affecting several businesses in our industry.

Kind Regards,

Per Pro
